

Austin USEAC
Export Achievement Certificate
Award Presentations

July 1, 2003 – Congressman Lloyd Doggett, 10th District of Texas, presented Austin companies ClearCube Technology, Inc., and Web Office, Inc., with the U.S. Commercial Service's Export Achievement Award. The Export Achievement Award recognizes companies that are business clients of the Commerce Department's U.S. Commercial Service and its Export Assistance Centers, and that have used their services to make their first export sale or to enter new foreign markets. Accepting the award for ClearCube Technology, Inc. was Jim Isbell, Vice President of Global Alliances. Accepting the award for Web Office, Inc. were Dr. Luan Nguyen, President and CTO of Web Office, Inc. and Dr. Satyendra Rana, Chairman of the Board of Web Office, Inc.

ClearCube Technology, Inc. (www.clearcube.com), founded in 1997 and based in Austin, Texas, provides a managed desktop architecture that delivers dedicated, Intel-based PC functionality to the desktop from a centralized, rack-mounted environment. Over the past year, the Austin U.S. Export Assistance Center, along with U.S. Commercial Service offices in Japan and Hong Kong, have provided ClearCube with industry research, market entry recommendations, connections to foreign trade development council and foreign trade shows, and other key export information. As a result, ClearCube has made several export sales in Asia.

Also based in Austin, Texas, Web Office, Inc. (www.webofficenow.com) was incorporated in February 2000 and is a developer of intelligent networked storage. Its Virtual Private Storage Network (VPSN™) solution, which received the PC magazine 4-Star Award in April 2003, provides a centrally managed way to deliver content between multiple locations securely, quickly, and reliable. The Austin U.S. Export Assistance Center has provided Web Office export assistance since the company first launched its product in September 2002, consistently providing Web Office with industry reports, export licensing assistance, domestic and foreign trade show information, and foreign customer contacts. Most recently, Web Office participated as an exhibitor in the U.S. Commercial Service booth at CeBIT Germany, which resulted in significant export sales and a distributorship agreement in Germany. In less than one year, Web Office has been able to achieve export sales in various countries in both Europe and Asia.
